

THE COMPANY

MP3 was founded in Italy in 1978. In 1990 it became I.L.P.A. srl.

From its founding to today, the company has specialised in the supply of finished products in both traditional plastics (PS - polystyrene, PP – polypropylene, and PET - polyethylene terephthalate) and bio plastics (PLA - polylactic acid resin) in addition to sheet products (ABS, ABS PMMA and PS).

The new plant in Bazzano, inaugurated in 1998, rises on an 80,000m² lot of which 45,000 m² is covered space. The production capacity, the result of the most modern equipment in the sector, is 72,000 metric tons per annum with an ample margin for future growth, above all for export.

MP3 continues to work towards further consolidating its products in Europe in the coming three years, confident that it will be capable of satisfying most of the requirements of the reference markets.

Currently 67% of the company output is destined for export to 20 countries, predominantly to Europe and the Middle East. Major sales agreements, stipulated with some leading European agencies in the sector, will allow further development on the international markets.

The decision to focus development on strategic sectors for the food packaging and industrial markets has led MP3 to become one of the European market leaders today. The company commitment to diversification is one of its main strengths in these difficult economic times, as is its strong propensity to invest: over € 93 million invested from 1998 to today, with the objective of improving quality by diversifying the product lines and markets.

MP3 was one of the first companies in Italy to obtain the ISO 9001:2008 TÜV certification. Cutting-edge technology and service excellence have always been the company's primary objective and its achievement, together with 30 years' experience, has made ILPA-MP3 a benchmark for the customers. A real and genuine "partnership" has been created between the company and its customers, because they know that they gain a strong competitive advantage and can actively participate in the development of materials for special applications.
